how the innate physical properties of different technologies influence the strategy and structure of the organizations implementing the technologies the sequel to design rules the power of modularity in design rules volume 2 carliss baldwin offers a comprehensive view of the digital economy by putting forth an original theory that explains how technology shapes organizations in a market economy the theory claims that complementarities arising from the physical nature of technologies can be arrayed on a spectrum ranging from strong to very weak two basic types of technologies in turn exhibit different degrees of complementarity between their internal components flow production technologies which are found in steel mills and auto factories specify a series of steps each of which is essential to the final product in contrast platform technologies which are characteristic of computer hardware software and networks are modular systems designed to provide options baldwin then investigates the dynamics of strategy for firms in platform ecosystems such firms create value by solving technical bottlenecks technical barriers to performance that arise in different parts of the system as it evolves they capture value by controlling and defending strategic bottlenecks components that are 1 essential to the functioning of some part of the system 2 unique and 3 controlled by a profit seeking enterprise strategic bottlenecks can be acquired by solving technical bottlenecks they can be destroyed via tactics such as substitution reverse engineering bypassing the bottleneck and enveloping a smaller bottleneck within a larger one strategy in platform ecosystems can thus be viewed as the effective management of technical and strategic bottlenecks within a modular technical system

arfel booker is a great young blues musician in the 1940s south one night after playing a blues gig in a new town a beautiful woman takes him back to her log cabin to make love in the morning after blacking out from too much liquor he awakens to an unwelcome surprise instead of the woman an unfamiliar white man is in the bed and the man s throat has been slashed with arfel s knife arfel knows he s been framed so he makes a run for it and heads north by hopping trains once a safe distance from the southern town

Arfel makes the acquaintance of Lemontree Johnson, a fellow blues man who helps to reestablish Arfel's music and him. Despite this spot of good luck, Arfel's troubles are far from over. Lemontree is the only person who knows the truth about Arfel's run from the South and his current state as suspected murderer. All seems lost when a bounty hunter arrives looking for Arfel, who was that strange murdered white man, and how will Arfel Booker escape the long arm of the law this time?

This Contracts casebook includes introductions that quickly orient students within unfamiliar territories. Cases present both the doctrine applied and, in some instances, the shortcomings of that doctrine. The authors express their disagreement about basic issues so that students can experience the range of possible in modern contract law. To save time, the authors avoid extensive citation of academic scholarship except as it pertains to the cases being studied. Certain traditional subjects, such as offer and acceptance and consideration, are reduced to the bare minimum, where more pivotal subjects, such as form contracts, arbitration clauses, and the modern concept of unconscionability, are considered at length.

Special Topic Volume with invited papers only

This first-rate study aid introduces the basic terms for the different elements of crime and shows students how these elements are interpreted and applied. Students will better understand the relationship between the law and the criminal justice system and how they both reflect the values and conflicts of our time.
