as we are approaching our fin de siècle issues of time and memory haunt contemporary culture museums and memorials are being constructed rapidly as if there were no tomorrow contemporary art and literature focuses on memory and the past rather than claiming radical breakthroughs into some unknown future with the recent resurgence of nationalism and issues of national identity the political future too seems to fold itself back into the past rather than offering a bold vision of the 21st century the great paradox of our fin de siècle culture is that novelty is even more associated with memory and the past rather than future expectation but if the obsession with memory is one salient symptom in this age of a modernity grown old then cultural and political amnesia is undoubtedly its counterpoint rather than blaming amnesia on television or the school twilight memories argues that the danger of amnesia is inherent in the information revolution our obsessions with cultural memory can be read as representing a powerful reaction against the electronic archive and they mark a shift in the way we live structures of temporality in this book the media are the hidden veil through which the author looks at the problem of cultural memory and an emerging new sensibility of temporality in literature art politics media theory and the museum
