in recent years the slogan women's rights are human rights has become a central claim of the of the global women's movement human rights and gender politics asia pacific perspectives examines the critical issues raised by this embracing and expansion of the human rights discourse by feminists worldwide this volume challenges the conventional ungendered and male centred analysis of the politics of human rights and addresses the future of global feminisms it is essential reading for all those interested in learning more about human rights and women's rights in the asia pacific region home and native land takes its vastly important topic and places it under a new penetrating light shifting focus from the present grounds of debate onto a more critical terrain the book's articles by some of the foremost critical thinkers and activists on issues of difference diversity and canadian policy challenge sedimented thinking on the subject of multiculturalism not merely another book on race relations national identity or the post 9 11 security environment this collection forges new and innovative connections by examining how multiculturalism relates to issues of migration security labour environment nature and land these novel pairings illustrate the continued power limitations and at times destructiveness of multiculturalism both as policy and as discourse publisher's note this volume examines the relationship between history philosophy and social science and contributors explore questions concerning realism ontology causation explanation and values in order to address the question what does a post positivist social science look like this volume brings together an interdisciplinary group of scholars around an important question how has migration changed in europe as the european union has enlarged and what are the consequences for countries and for migrants themselves inside and outside of these redrawn jurisdictional and territorial borders by addressing this question the book contributes to three current debates with respect to eu migration management 1 that recent developments in eu migration management represent a profound spatial and organizational reconfiguration of regional governance of migration 2 the trend towards the externalization or subcontracting of migration control and 3 how the implications of

Europe's changing immigration policy are increasingly felt across the European neighborhood and beyond based on new empirical research the authors in this collection explore these three processes and their consequences for both member and non member EU states for migrants themselves and for migration systems in the region the collection indicates that despite the rhetoric of social and spatial integration across the EU region as one wall has come down new walls have gone up as novel migration and security policy frameworks have been erected making European immigration more complex and potentially more influential beyond the EU zone than ever

This dissertation argues that there has been a shift in emphasis in contemporary France from a regime of systematicity and justice grounded in the rule of law to a narrower ethics of exceptionality and benevolence based on a politics of humanitarianism and compassion I examine this shift from the angle of those most impacted by the failure of the rule of law immigrants particularly undocumented immigrants or those called les sans papiers in France based on ethnographic field research in Paris from 1999-2001 with undocumented immigrants activist groups lawyers immigration officials nurses doctors and social workers this dissertation documents how as one example of this shift illness has become a primary means by which to stay in France legally it demonstrates how this emergent ethics has turned the politics of immigration into a politics of life and death where one must barter one's suffering for inclusion in the concept of humanity

Tokyo is one of the largest and most complex cities in the world and represents an intriguing proving ground for new ideas on architecture and urbanism working in Tokyo means working in the future and often two sets of rules seem to apply to projects in Tokyo on the one hand the city's growth is as protean as that of LA or Mexico City yet this growth is channeled by Japan's rigid adherence to norms and rules and Japanese architecture's embrace of the theoretical and new this book presents Tokyo as seen through its growth and design from the 19th century onward with a special focus on highlighting the deep roots of contemporary trends in Tokyo architecture

Bachelor thesis from the year 2015 in the subject Geography Earth Science Economic Geography grade 1-3 University of Twente Language English Abstract This bachelor thesis examines a city's interlinkage in the globalizing processes and aims at answering the research question to what extent can Hamburg be qualified as a global city in terms of its localization of global producer services and cultural industries global cities are defined as local nodes of the corporate service sector and the cultural economy which are associated in a global network following this an in depth analysis of hamburg s performance on the economic and cultural dimension will be provided in order to clarify its global city status it will be innovative in two respects firstly it will provide an incorporation of both dimensions economic and culture into its analysis in order to provide a more comprehensive and less biased estimate of a metropolis global city status a practice that has not been conducted in the literature so far secondly it will apply this dualistic approach to the city of hamburg even though it is the second largest city in germany according to population numbers hamburg has not yet been subject of detailed investigation by global city researcher in a swot analysis the strength weaknesses opportunities and threats of the producer service sector and the cultural economy are outlined in order to determine their basic situation the sectors integration in the global networks are discussed mainly on basis of the globalization and world cities studies research network gawc dataset and the data generated by kratke 2010 by linking the local conditions with the global perspective on both sectors the not fully developed functional status of hamburg as a global city becomes clear it is a global city in the second row derived from this finding recommendations for a better involvement in the global networks are provided this book provides a comprehensive coverage of urban social theory within the history of social thought it s an accessible and comprehensive coverage of the major social theorists and schools
