the inaugural title in the correlates of war series from cq press this 2 volume set catalogs every official interstate alliance signed from the peace of westphalia in 1648 through the early twenty first century ranking it among the most thorough and accessible reviews of formal military treaties ever published maps and introductions showcase the effects of alliances on the region or international system in century specific chapters while individual narratives and summaries of alliances simultaneously provide basic information such as dates and member states as well as essential insights on the conditions that prompted the agreement additionally separate and or secret articles are highlighted for additional context and interest supplementary features of this two volume set include a timeline cataloging major events in political and military history guides listing allegiances by region and by century an alphabetical treaty index maps illustrating political boundaries across the centuries international military alliances is an indispensable resource for any library serving students of law politics history and military science why do some attempts to conclude alliance treaties end in failure from the inability of european powers to form an alliance that would stop hitler in the 1930s to the present inability of ukraine to join nato states frequently attempt but fail to form alliance treaties in arguing about alliances paul poast sheds new light on the purpose of alliance treaties by recognizing that such treaties come from negotiations and that negotiations can end in failure in a book that bridges stephen walt s origins of alliance and glenn snyder s alliance politics two classic works on alliances poast identifies two conditions that result in non agreement major incompatibilities in the internal war plans of the participants and attractive alternatives to a negotiated agreement for various parties to the negotiations as a result arguing about alliances focuses on a group of states largely ignored by scholars states that have attempted to form alliance treaties but failed poast suggests that to explain the outcomes of negotiations specifically how they can end without agreement we must pay particular attention to the wartime planning and coordinating functions of alliance treaties through his exploration of the outcomes of negotiations from european alliance negotiations between 1815 and 1945 poast offers a typology of alliance treaty negotiations and establishes what conditions are most likely to stymie the attempt to formalize recognition of common national interests the legal pluriverse surrounding multinational military operations conceptualizes and examines the pluriverse the multiplicity of rules that apply to and regulate contemporary multinational missions and the array of actors involved these operations are further complicated by changes to the classification of the conflict and the asymmetry of obligations on participants structured into five parts this work seeks through the diversity of its authorship to set out the web of legal regimes applicable to military operations including forces from more than one state it maps out the ways in which different regimes interact beginning with the laws of armed conflict and their relation to international humanitarian and human rights norms and extending through to areas like law of the sea and environmental law a variety of contributors systematically compile and take stock of the various legal regimes that make up the pluriverse assessing how these rules interact exposing norm conflicts areas of legal uncertainty or protective loopholes in this way they identify and evaluate approaches to better streamline the different applicable legal frameworks with a view to enhancing cooperation and thereby ensuring the long term success of multinational military operations why are some violent crises more likely to prompt humanitarian military interventions than others conventional wisdom says that humanitarian military interventions occur due to national interests shared values and norms or economic benefits for the interveners yet neither of these factors can fully explain the selectivity of such interventions the international community continues to ignore the decades long suffering in darfur often dismisses the genocidal policies within myanmar and even perpetuates the suffering in contemporary yemen while undertaking humanitarian laden missions in libya syria and the balkans using in depth case studies and new data on all post cold war internal armed conflicts matched to third party responses from kosovo to darfur offers the first regionally sensitive analysis of humanitarian military intervention since the end of the cold war it shows that international military interventions in the context of acute humanitarian crises are driven by different pathways within the western versus the non western world and fueled by elite perceptions of the crisis making interventions closer to the geographic and cultural west most probable and most intense as our international community becomes increasingly interdependent and aware of human suffering across borders from kosovo to darfur points to new pathways of conflict trajectories and reveals vital implications for leaders scholars and nongovernmental actors advocating for or against international military intervention as a policy choice
