transnational migration is a controversial and much discussed issue in both the popular media and the social sciences but at its heart migration is about individual people making the difficult choice to leave their families and communities in hopes of achieving greater economic prosperity vicente quitasaca is one of these people in 1995 he left his home in the ecuadorian city of cuenca to live and work in new york city this anthropological story of vicente s migration and its effects on his life and the lives of his parents and siblings adds a crucial human dimension to statistics about immigration and the macro impact of transnational migration on the global economy anthropologist ann miles has known the quitasacas since 1989 her long acquaintance with the family allows her to delve deeply into the factors that eventually impelled the oldest son to make the difficult and dangerous journey to the united states as an undocumented migrant focusing on each family member in turn miles explores their varying perceptions of social inequality and racism in ecuador and their reactions to vicente s migration as family members speak about vicente s new hard to imagine life in america they reveal how transnational migration becomes a symbol of failure hope resignation and promise for poor people in struggling economies miles frames this fascinating family biography with an analysis of the historical and structural conditions that encourage transnational migration so that the quitasacas story becomes a vivid firsthand illustration of this growing global phenomenon for years mainstream feminist ethics focused criticism on male supremacy feminist philosophers in this volume adopt a less male focused stance to look closely at oppression s impact on women s agency and on women s relations with women examining legal social and physical relationships these philosophers confront moral ambiguity moral compromise and complicity in perpetuating oppression combining personal experience with philosophical inquiry they vividly portray their daily engagement with oppression as both victims and perpetrators they explore such issues as how pornography silences women and radical feminist politics complicity in racism among these insightful essays sandra bartky argues that women share guilt for racism when they benefit from it without protest susan brison reflects on uses of narrative in trauma recovery from such experiences as being targeted for rape or murder joan callahan examines fallout of derogatory speech directed at lesbians virginia held proposes carrying care into marketplaces and governments and in her introduction claudia card draws on primo levi s conception of gray zones in exploring dangers of character damage to victims of misogyny a fitting companion to card s highly regarded feminist ethics this volume interweaves observations on character political ethics violence and love into an accessible sourcebook for students it tackles some of feminism s most pressing issues and helps readers to identify and then overcome the real damage caused by oppression
