the seemingly amorphous phenomenon we call globalization involves concrete realities that make it a major source of social change in our contemporary world bringing globalization alive for students this book uses examples and perspectives from economics technology and mass media to show how globalization is producing unprecedented impacts on education and culture education at all levels from primary school to university education is undergoing a world wide transformation of its objectives values and practices new technologies and communication practices have promoted the west s optimism that market forces can replace the former governmental responsibilities for social welfare and the inclusion of diverse cultures new emphasis on competition quality control parental choice marketing and the linkage of education to work means that schools all over the world face innovations and challenges to established practices meanwhile the worldwide expansion of entertainment and advertising media convey notions of individualism and consumerism that are changing definitions of gender and solidarity among social groups this book offers a vivid introduction to these complex changes recognizing the role of the state while explaining new forces like transnational corporations and nongovernmental organizations stromquist points to governmental and school policies that can actively shape the future of education at a time of rapid change this book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 13th international conference on blended learning icbl 2020 held in bangkok in august 2020 the 33 papers presented were carefully reviewed and selected from 70 submissions the conference theme of icbl 2020 is blended learning education in a smart learning environment the papers are organized in topical sections named blended learning hybrid learning online learning enriched and smart learning learning management system and content and instructional design international interest in holocaust education has reached new heights in recent years this historic event has long been central to cultures of remembrance in those countries where the genocide of the jewish people occurred but other parts of the world have now begun to recognize the history of the holocaust as an effective means to teach about mass violence and to promote human rights and civic duty testifying to the emergence of this pivotal historical event as a universal frame of reference in this new globalized context how is the holocaust represented and taught how do teachers handle this excessively complex and emotionally loaded subject in fast changing multicultural european societies still haunted by the crimes perpetrated by the nazis and their collaborators why and how is it taught in other areas of the world that have only little if any connection with the history of the jewish people holocaust education in a global context will explore these questions page 10 learning used to be confined to a physical place now it s no longer limited by walls or daylight or location learning happens in spaces that transcend these boundaries these spaces can still have physical elements but they are no longer defined by a physical footprint and constrained by the limitations of time space and matter learning can now take place on any device in any place and at any time 21st century skills are one of the concepts we use most frequently when talking about innovative education we see that the skills referred to as 21st century skills include cognitive skills such as creative thinking problem solving as well as many different social and emotional skills such as understanding expressing empathy and teamwork many educators now agree that not only academic knowledge is sufficient but social emotional skills play a role as much as academic knowledge in a person's success and happiness another accepted fact is the phenomenon of lifelong learning the fact that education does not start at school but does not end at school in fact it is a process that should continue throughout life while accepting all this a subject that is not discussed much how this holistic lifelong learning is possible in a class in the form of 40 minutes lessons and 10 minutes of break while we are designing various kinds of education programs for children to gain all these different skill sets in the classroom do not we actually keep these skills in the easiest way practically away from the environments they will acquire in John Dewey's book Experience and Education 1938 information obtained as detached from real life is depicted as wasted time and effort most teachers are already aware of this situation for this reason they try to explain math problems and literacy by linking them to children's experiences and lives as much as possible and they do many big and small experiments in social sciences and science lessons can't we go one step further than this can't we make learning in life a part of our education system instead of preparing small examples of real life for children with many justified concerns such as assessment security teachers pedagogical infrastructure we miss out on the most important opportunities for education just because they are outside the walls of the school this book aims to open new horizons in the journey of learning beyond the school walls in the world and contribute to the spread of learning in our society in societies where constant change is the norm schools today must prepare students to be successful in environments and contexts that may differ greatly from what we experience today but are we really thinking about the future with contributions from seven continents this book will reveal a snapshot of some of our best thinking for building new education futures diverse experiences visions and ideas are shared to help spark new thinking among educators and policymakers provoke conversation and facilitate new ideas for meeting human development needs in a rapidly transforming world in a growing revisionist tradition comparative educational scholars challenge conventional assumptions about quality education as a singular undertaking dominated by standardised assessments and globalisation influences the contributors to this volume illustrate the complexities and global dimensions of educational quality that emerged in their research several chapters critique educational reforms employing assessments aligned to global standards and large scale assessments revealing how considerations of contextual factors internal needs and local traditions are essential for developing a quality curriculum or for overhauling a national education system most chapters interrogate the uses and misuses of standardised assessment results the contributors reveal the importance of asking critical questions about quality education how to access it and for what purposes what contextual and cultural factors are important what implementation issues and local level realities must be considered for true understanding of standardized assessment results what content skills and values are necessary and desirable ingredients what roles teachers and administrators play and what benefits accrue in terms of outcomes for employment and labor market needs or for achieving autonomy and stakeholder participation critiques of narrow interpretations of standardised assessment data contrast with research based evidence that participation in large scale assessments such as pisa timss and pirls can indeed be beneficial to identify needed reform refinements and implementation shortcomings specific country cases include brazil canada the united states spain portugal ukraine kyrgyzstan and the philippines other chapters provide insights on quality education issues worldwide the volume offers readers a panorama of views on the diversity of paths to quality education
