the first book to take a visitor's eye view of the museum visit when it was first published in 1992 the museum experience revolutionized the way museum professionals understand their constituents falk and dierking have updated this essential reference incorporating advances in research theory and practice in the museum field over the last twenty years written in clear non technical style the museum experience revisited paints a thorough picture of why people go to museums what they do there how they learn and what museum practitioners can do to enhance these experiences previous editions of this book established themselves as authoritative overviews of action learning practice around the globe given the increase in action learning activity since this book last appeared the demand for an up to date edition has grown whilst chapters on action learning are now obligatory in every collection on leadership and management development there is still no competing specialist work of this nature this is the second edition of john h falk and lynn d dierking's ground breaking book Learning from Museums while the book still focuses on why how what when and with whom people learn from their museum experiences the authors further investigate the extension of museums beyond their walls and the changing perceptions of the roles that museums increasingly play in the 21st century with respect to the publics they serve and those they would like to serve this new edition offers an updated and synthesized version of the contextual model of learning as well as the latest advances in free choice learning research theory and practice in order to provide readers a highly readable and informative understanding of the personal sociocultural and physical dimensions of the museum experience falk and dierking also fill in gaps in the 1st edition falk's research focuses increasingly on the self related needs that museums meet and these findings enhance the personal context chapter dierking's work delves deeply into the macro sociocultural dimensions of learning a topic not discussed in the sociocultural chapter in the first edition emphasizing the importance of time and space the second edition adds an entirely new chapter to describe the important dimension of time they also insert findings from the burgeoning field of neuroscience latter chapters of the book discuss the evolving role of museums in the rapidly changing information learning society of the 21st century new examples and suggestions highlight the ways that the new understandings of learning can help museum practitioners reinvent how museums can and should support the public's lifelong life wide and life deep learning leaning into value becoming a user focused museum provides guidance to museum leaders struggling to navigate today's often tumultuous ever changing economic political leisure and educational landscape provided is a concrete framework for maximizing institutional success a continuous value realization process that enables museum leaders to effectively 1 calibrate the needs and interests of their current and potential users 2 articulate how and why they create value so they can foster enduring relationships with users 3 create an ever evolving series of products and services that consistently deliver unique value to an ever more diverse set of constituencies and finally 4 validate their activities through empirical processes that promote evidence based decision making and catalyze measurable year on year improvements in their organization's community value the caught on camera death of george floyd on may 25 2020 shook the conscience of both the nation and the international community in a way that had not been seen since the death of emmett till 65 years earlier forcing a new generation of americans to face the sobering reality that as a nation we have not fully turned the corner on the dark legacy of our country's race based history the tragic deaths of ahmaud arbery breonna taylor and george floyd that year trumpeted a fact well understood by most african americans there is still much work to do before america truly becomes the land of liberty and justice for all in black man a prophecy of hope for the times ahead greg l davis brings a fresh perspective to the systemic struggles african american and black people currently face while addressing the legacy of chattel slavery jim crow and institutional racial biases which have set african americans back several generations socially economically educationally and politically the author shifts the narrative by introducing a biblically based prophetic assertion regarding divine reparations which he contends are immediately available to descendants of transatlantic slavery victims worldwide in the form of life capital endowments by which african american and black persons can take possession of the unrealized inheritance of their ancestors the author boldly predicts that divine judgments upon the american system of racial hierarchy will occur within this decade while encouraging all black people to understand that the key to permanent change in the fight for equality and justice for all people is in their hands please visit the author s website at gregldavis.com
