the first decade of the twentieth century was the ottoman empire s imperial twilight as the empire fell away however the beginnings of a young vibrant and radical turkish nationalism took root in anatolia the summer of 1908 saw a group known as the young turks attempt to revitalise turkey with a constitutional revolution aimed at reducing the power of the ottoman sultan abdulhammid ii who was seen to preside over the ottoman empire s decline drawing on popular support for the efence of the ottoman empire s balkan territories in particular the young turks promised to build a nation from the people up rather than from the top down here y dogan cetinkaya analyses the history of the boycott movement a series of nationwide public meetings and protests which enshrined the turkish democractic voice he argues that the 1908 revolution the young turks engendered was in fact a crucial link in the wave of constitutional revolutions at the beginning of the twentieth century in russia 1905 iran 1906 mexico 1910 and china 1911 and as such should be studied in the context of the wider rise of democratic nationalism across the world the young turks and the boycott movement is the first history to show how this phenomenon laid the foundations for the modern turkish state and will be essential reading for students and scholars of the ottoman empire and of the history of modern turkey
