winner 2021 african literature association first book award should a writer work in a former colonial language or in a vernacular the language question was one of the great intractable problems that haunted postcolonial literatures in the twentieth century but it has since acquired a reputation as a dead end for narrow nationalism this book returns to the language question from a fresh perspective instead of asking whether language matters the tongue tied imagination explores how the language question itself came to matter focusing on the case of senegal warner investigates the intersection of french and wolof drawing on extensive archival research and an understudied corpus of novels poetry and films in both languages as well as educational projects and popular periodicals the book traces the emergence of a politics of language from colonization through independence to the era of neoliberal development warner reads the francophone works of well known authors such as léopold senghor ousmane sembène mariama bâ and boubacar boris diop alongside the more overlooked wolof language works with which they are in dialogue refusing to see the turn to vernacular languages only as a form of nativism the tongue tied imagination argues that the language question opens up a fundamental struggle over the nature and limits of literature itself warner reveals how language debates tend to pull in two directions first they weave vernacular traditions into the normative patterns of world literature but second they create space to imagine how literary culture might be configured otherwise drawing on these insights warner brilliantly rethinks the terms of world literature and charts a renewed practice of literary comparison ecocriticism is a critical approach that focuses on the representation in literature of the non human elements of the natural world a method of inquiry that has been largely limited to literature written in english the aim of ecocritical approaches to literature in french is twofold to introduce ecocriticism to scholars of french language literature and to open ecocriticism to the vision and voices of french literature the chapters look at work not only from france but also from north america the caribbean and africa the discussions include fiction poetry film and pedagogy the goal of the collection is to demonstrate not only the applicability of ecocritical inquiry to literature in french but to demonstrate the possibilities of ecocritical theory on the study of french literature and also for ecocriticism itself this collection will be a useful resource both for scholars of french language literature and also for ecocritics who may have had only limited contact with literatures in languages other than english this book investigates the convergence of feminist literary projects in the latin american and west african contexts and demonstrates how the authors examined here employ similar writing strategies to re constitute feminine subjects their writing strives to rid literature and thus international psyches of reductive stereotypes of subaltern women while projecting more complex active female images in portraying the horrific victimization that they and their people have experienced these writers claim a position of authorial power and wield their tragedies along with their words as a weapon against imperial patriarchal and neocolonial tyranny despite their vast socioeconomic and cultural differences these women share much common ground where they cultivate feminine words of deliverance this collection is a study of african literature framed by the central and multi faceted idea of mother motherland mothertongue motherwit motherhood mothering looking at the paradoxical location of mother as both central and marginal whilst the volume stands as a sustained feminist analysis it engages feminist theory itself by showing how issues in feminism are in african literature recast in different and complex ways focuses on writers and works published since 1950 the majority of the authors surveyed are african american but representative african and caribbean authors are also included all african is at once a literary piece a social protest and medium of political reassertion all the contributors to the volume share the same objective while examining the works of writers like achebe ngugi ayikwei armah ben okri and gabriel okara the book also highlights the fast growing women s writing and discusses work of women writers like nadine gordimer buchi emecheta mariama ba and ama ata aidoo considering questions of genre and ideology the author highlights the tension between the individualistic act of writing and the collective tradition of african society the authors discussed include aminata sow fall and werewere liking
