seminar paper from the year 2004 in the subject american studies literature grade a san diego state university course modern american literature and culture language english abstract it's quite amazing how i've gone around for most of my life as in the rarefied atmosphere under a bell jar plath sylvia the bell jar new york harper collins publishers 1996 p 250 although uttered by sylvia plath this statement fully applies for the protagonist esther greenwood in plath's novel the bell jar it exemplifies her feeling of being imprisoned in a world and society she can neither accept nor reject and further reveals the identification of author and protagonist both plath and esther suffer from living under this sort of glass bell jar which makes it hard for them to breathe and to break free from the regulations of contemporary society the author sylvia plath herself has experienced most of the events in the novel including psychological disease depression and suicide attempts moreover most of the characters in the bell jar are based on people plath knew and loved although she often draws caricatures or uses the device of irony when describing them plath's intention was to show how isolated a person feels when he is suffering a breakdown p 262 but we never completely come to know why this breakdown occurs which almost leads to her destruction and drives her into madness and the asylum what we do know however is that esther doubts the traditional way of a woman's life in the 1950s which means marrying a respectful man having children and being an obedient housewife she can hardly decide which way of life to choose and experiences a strong inner conflict between her wish of leading the life of a poet and that of a loving wife and mother this conflict leads to a fracture in esther's inner self to diminished self assurance and false made up selves esther's mother although seemingly playing a passive role in the novel has a significant influence on her daughter's way of thinking on her doubt of social values and to a certain extent even on her psychological disease which derives from her inner disorder in the following i will try to analyze the importance and influence of esther's relationship to her mother mrs greenwood in the course of the story in doing so i will also examine the meaning of maternal bonds in reference to a couple of further female relationships in the novel moreover i will dwell on esther's doubt and partial rejection of social and traditional values of her time most of which are embodied by her mother seminar paper from the year 2008 in the subject american studies literature grade 1.0 dresden technical university institut für anglistik amerikanistik course the 1950s and 1960s in american literature language english abstract 1 introduction sylvia plath ended her life by gassing herself in a stove on february 11th in 1963 this is not the most important fact about the poet and yet the best known detail of her life since her death plath's work and her life have been irrevocably interblended thus she is either interpreted as a courageous but suppressed female writer or as a dark and mentally disordered summoner of death in either case she had been mystified as a kind of tragic hero and some critics continue with this kind of blind plathophilia bachner 2008 until today although her artistic work is mainly composed of poems her only novel will be the object for the following interpretation of the protagonist's alienation in comparison to respective events in the author's life being so closely connected it is impossible to reflect on the novel without factoring her life into the described events of alienation in the bell jar thus after introducing the influencing social circumstances of her time the paper concentrates on sylvia plath's degree of authenticity in her writing on the basis of these findings two different stages of the protagonist's alienation are to be developed and afterwards her ambivalent relation towards the opposite sex is being discussed as a major consequence to her schizoid attitudes towards her desired social status finally the analysis deals with plath's strong symbolism in which the mirror serves as frequent metaphoric means to illustrate estrangement not only from the outside world but also from her inner self another one the fig tree stands for the inability to decide for a certain way of life both are crucial problems of the protagonist esther greenwood and it is to examine in how far they reflect on sy
