dr behr has an engaging and lively mode of dealing with her chosen subject one which is in itself an attractive and original one moving as it does beyond the conventional stereotypes of the gothic to reach a number of convincing reassessments of both gender and genre in this context the examination of the various aspects of male identity is insightful and controlled and dr behr s facility for the apposite and pithy phrase cuts to the heart of the discussion facilitating the flow of her ideas written with an undergraduate audience in mind this text offers a synthesis of the main topics of gothic interest and clearly argued summaries of critical debate it signals its difference from recent psychoanalytic readings of gothic and argues instead for a more complex multilayered approach via an historicist reading of gothic fiction illustrated with ten black and white plates and including an up to date bibliography this will be an ideal text for all those with an interest in the gothic book jacket seminar paper from the year 2013 in the subject english language and literature studies literature grade 2.0 university of bayreuth sprach und literaturwissenschaftliche fakultät language english abstract when enthusiastic readers and fans around the globe think of sherlock holmes they do not necessarily associate the stories of the detective with gothic fiction holmes is rather linked to be the supreme example of the classic detective story ever since the first sherlock holmes story a study in scarlet has been published numerous adaptations such as theatre plays films and a recent bbc series followed adding scholarly texts to the adaptations one can certainly argue that most of the publications deal with holmes in his role as a detective thus nils clausson claims that the myth of the scientific detective was born 61 certainly it is more likely to associate sherlock holmes with crime fiction than with vampires or zombies however gothic fiction is far too complex to reduce the term only to this associations thus the purpose of this seminar paper is to lay the focus on gothic elements and detective fiction in one particular sherlock holmes story the hound of the baskervilles hence the structure of the paper will be as follows in the first chapter the paper will be concerned with the term gothic this implies an attempt to both define as well as limit the notion to gothic fiction moreover the paper deals with common motifs or features of the classic gothic fiction which developed in the 18th century in the next sub chapter the paper sets the focus on the so called gothic revival which occurred in the late victorian era of the 19th century as it is of peculiar interest for the hound of the baskervilles some characteristics of the late victorian gothic will be implied the third and the fourth chapter will illustrate the main aspects of the paper subdivided into characters setting and plot the third chapter will discuss some gothic elements in the hound of the baskervilles could the hound of the baskervilles either be considered as gothic fiction or a detective story based on this question the paper will incorporate several scientific statements to find an answer finally the paper will give a conclusion as well as a bibliography while the numinous and heavily psychological aspects of the gothic have received serious attention studies do not tend to examine the relation of the gothic supernatural to the very different backgrounds of 18th century and victorian belief this study examines the rise of the form the artistic difficulties experienced by its early practitioners and the transformation of the original problem ridden gothic works into the successful victorian tales of unearthly terror in doing so this study makes a distinct contribution to our grasp of the gothic and of the links between literature and religion this collection contains works by such writers as poe hawthorne gaskell dickens and m r james it brings together stories from the earliest decades of gothic writing with later 19th and early 20th century tales

Dr Howard uses Bakhtin's concepts of heteroglossia and dialogism in specific historical analyses of key works of the genre. Her discussions of Ann Radcliffe's Mysteries of Udolpho, Matthew Lewis's The Monk, Jane Austen's Northanger Abbey, and Mary Shelley's Frankenstein demonstrate that the discursive ambiguity of these novels is not inherently subversive but that the political force of particular discourses is contingent upon their interaction with other discourses in the reading process.
