this book is about the implications of novels for young readers that tell their stories by alternating between different narrative lines focused on different characters it asks if you make sense of fiction by identifying with one main character how do you handle two or more of them do novels with alternating narratives diverge from longstanding conventions and represent a significant change in literature for young readers if not how do these novels manage to operate within the parameters of those conventions this book considers answers to these questions by means of a series of close readings that explore the structural educational and ideological implications of a variety of american british canadian and australian novels for children and for young adults windows and words is a collection of seventeen essays that confirms and celebrates the artistry of canadian children s literature there are essays that survey a wealth of english language fiction from the internationally acclaimed work of lucy maud montgomery the aboriginal adolescent novel to the increasingly multi cultural character of children s books others examine book illustration visual literacy and the creative partnership seen in the picture book and its art design with contributions by two governor general s award winning authors janet lunn and tim wynne jones and a final commentary by elizabeth waterson the heart of this collection offers a unique perspective on the artistry of writing for children and claims a rightful place for canadian children s literature as literature your students and users will find biographical information on approximately 300 modern writers in this volume of contemporary authors r authors in this volume include diane arbus nina kiriki hoffman michael moore taking a critical research oriented perspective this book explores the theoretical empirical and pedagogical connections between reading and teaching young adult literature in middle and secondary classrooms and adolescent identity development within the past few years transcultural learning has become one of the key terms in tefl theory central concerns in current research include differentiating between inter and transcultural learning navigating processes of understanding otherness and assessing cultural competences using these aspects this study investigates texts recommended for cultural learning and key components of implementing literature in elt the results call for a more holistic perception of alterity and argue in favour of transcultural literature as a basis for transcultural learning all of this dissertation is in english subjects literary criticism education series fremdsprachendidaktik in globaler perspecktive vol 5 translating canada examines cultural materials exported by canada in addition to those selected for acquisition by german publishers theatres and other culture brokers it also considers the motivations of particular translators and the reception by german reviewers of works by a wide variety of canadian writers lists books by subject and title and recommends what book children and young adults should read next based on their previous likes and dislikes as gail bush reports each section of this monograph includes articles that invite the reader to explore his or her own response to the authors messages the purpose here is not to set in stone principles and practices to be followed blindly but to present a disposition toward intellectual behaviors that seriously consider our responsibilities and actions as educators in a democratic society and ms bush has pulled articles to do just that from knowledge quest aasl s official highly respected journal on school library media programs you will find topics addressing the big picture of civic engagement equity democracy and social justice and of course best practices
