this volume of the asa special series contains the written version of the presentations given at the asa 2009 annual conference on the search for truth in arbitration is finding the truth what dispute resolution is about this volume explores the role and the relevance of truth in dispute resolution and specifically in commercial arbitration the different notions of truth in different legal cultures the users view in that respect and the consequences of these different perspectives and approaches for the practice of international arbitration part one provides the philosophical background to the subsequent discussions of some practical issues from the perspective of the users of arbitration services as well as of the providers of these services arbitrators and counsel next two practical issues that have for a long time been a hot topic in commercial arbitration practice cross examination and document production are explored from different perspectives finally formalism in arbitral proceedings is discussed is formalism good or evil it has been concluded that formal requirements should never be handled in a way that would hinder a tribunal or a court from accomplishing the main task with which it was entrusted either by the parties or by the state applying the substantive law to the issues before them and finding a just and fair solution to the parties dispute the presentations published in this volume of the asa special series will contribute to the discussion of the ever intriguing question is finding the truth what dispute resolution is about in reciprocity truth and gender in pindar and aeschylus author arum park explores two notoriously difficult ancient greek poets and seeks to articulate the complex relationship between them although pindar and aeschylus were contemporaries previous scholarship has often treated them as representatives of contrasting worldviews park s comparative study offers the alternative perspective of understanding them as complements instead by examining these poets together through the concepts of reciprocity truth and gender this book establishes a relationship between pindar and aeschylus that challenges previous conceptions of their dissimilarity the book accomplishes three aims first it shows that pindar and aeschylus frame their poetry using similar principles of reciprocity second it demonstrates that each poet depicts truth in a way that is specific to those reciprocity principles and finally it illustrates how their depictions of gender are shaped by this intertwining of truth and reciprocity by demonstrating their complementarity the book situates pindar and aeschylus in the same poetic ecosystem which has implications for how we understand ancient greek poetry more broadly using pindar and aeschylus as case studies the book provides a window into their dynamic and interactive poetic world a world in which ostensibly dissimilar poets and genres actually have much more in common than we might think truth is deeply consequential truth is the fundamental requirement for justice in a court of law for addressing threats to democracy and good governance climate change inequality racism poverty gun violence conflict among nations and weapons of mass destruction commitment to truth underpins any effort to overcome ignorance obfuscation propaganda fallacy and a culture burdened with disinformation but while we are influenced by claims of truth we don t always know what truth is and how much it matters while sustaining a standard of truth has always been difficult a perfect storm of declining commitment to fact based media practices and patterns of normalized dishonesty seems to have emerged it has been said that truth is not dying it s being killed given that we are constrained in our ability to act in defense of what we don t understand the authors aim to set out a coherent and comprehensive account of the meaning and implications of truth in the range of contexts that are meaningful for us as individuals as civilized societies and as a species choosing truth explores truth in its multiple dimensions and manifestations and presents novel and pragmatic concepts that integrate the content and application of truth seeking approaches this important and timely new book can act as a text or supplemental reading in practical philosophy but also in an array of disciplines where truth is deeply meaningful such as education political science public policy management journalism and environmental science choosing truth can also be used by organizational change agents seeking to foster learning and adaptation in organizations more than just an opportunity to uncover fact after conflict truth commissions can also offer restorative power to nations across the globe truth commissions and state building presents the first comparative study of the role of its kind illuminating these possibilities examining truth commissions as mechanisms for civic inclusion identity formation institutional reform and nation re building in post conflict and post authoritarian societies the book shifts attention towards institutional innovation in african countries where approximately a third of all commissions have been established contributors explore the mandates methods outcomes and legacies of truth commissions analyzing their place in transitional and restorative justice rather than conceptualizing state building as incidental to their work they present it as an intrinsic central component this flagship volume authored by a stellar cast of policymakers practitioners and scholars brings multidisciplinary and cross sectoral perspectives to bear on the complex role of truth commissions in addressing transitional justice historical injustices and present day human rights violations as more countries in both the global south and the north adopt this model to address historical and contemporary abuses the dialogue between different sectors of society modelled here will help inform this process wherever it might occur since the 1980s a number of countries have established truth commissions to come to terms with the legacy of past human rights violations yet little is known about the achievements and shortcomings of this popular transitional justice tool drawing on research on chile s national truth and reconciliation commission and peru s truth and reconciliation commission and exploring the scholarship on thirteen other transitional contexts onur bakiner evaluates the success of truth commissions in promoting policy reform human rights accountability and the public recognition of human rights violations he argues that although political elites often see a truth commission as a convenient way to address past atrocities the findings historical narratives and recommendations of such commissions often surprise upset and discredit influential political actors even when commissions produce only modest change as a result of political constraints bakiner contends they open up new avenues for human rights activism by triggering the creation of new victims organizations facilitating public debates over social memory and inducing civil society actors to monitor the country s human rights policy bakiner demonstrates how truth commissions have recovered basic facts about human rights violations forced societies to rethink the violence and exclusion of nation building and produced a new dynamic whereby the state seeks to legitimize its central position between history and politics by accepting a high degree of societal penetration into the production and diffusion of official national history by doing so truth commissions have challenged and transformed public discourses on memory truth justice reconciliation recognition nationalism and political legitimacy in the contemporary world
