this book focuses on the exciting possibilities for representing the built environment with all the techniques both ancient and modern that are now available it teaches students the following skills how to draw using a range of media the basic rules of making effective spatial images how to read a drawing and how to express ideas through appropriate media and forms of communication following a brief introduction the book is divided into three sections media types and places each section is illustrated with exemplary drawings and accompanying commentaries step by step sequences and practical tips will further help students to make the most of their newly acquired skills this book is an indispensable practical and inspirational resource in architectural schools and practices alike in this study of the international modern movement in architecture alan colquhoun explores the complex motivations behind its revolutionary new style and assesses its triumphs and failures this revised edition of exercises in architecture learning to think as an architect is full of new content building on the success of the previous edition all the original exercises have been revised and new ones added with the format changing to allow the inclusion of more supplementary material the aim remains the same to help pre or early course architecture students begin and develop their ability to think as architects learning to do architecture is tricky it involves awakening abilities that remain dormant in most people it is like learning language for the first time a task made more mystifying by the fact that architecture deals not in words but in places places to stand to walk to sit to hide to sleep to cook to eat to work to play to worship this book was written for those who want to be architects it suggests a basis for early experiences in a school of architecture but it could also be used in secondary schools and colleges or as self directed preparation for students in the months before entering professional education exercises in architecture builds on and supplements the methodology for architectural analysis presented in the author s previous book analysing architecture the universal language of place making fifth edition 2021 and demonstrated in his twenty five buildings every architect should understand routledge 2015 together the three books deal with the three aspects of learning any creative discipline 1 analysing architecture provides a methodology for analysis that develops an understanding of the way architecture works 2 twenty five buildings explores and extends that methodology through analysis of examples as case studies and 3 exercises in architecture offers a way of expanding understanding and developing fluency by following a range of rudimentary and more sophisticated exercises those who wish to become professional architects wherever in the world they might be must make a conscious effort to learn the universal language of architecture as place making to explore its powers and how they might be used the exercises in this book are designed to help the way in which the contemporary exhibition is designed is fast changing previously aloof cultural institutions are making use of technologies and techniques more commonly associated with film and retail exhibition design features a wide variety of examples from around the world from major trade and commerce fairs to well known fine art institutions to small scale artist designed displays an introduction gives a historical perspective on the development of exhibitions and museums the first part of the book covers the conceptual themes of narrative space performative space and simulated experience and the second the practical concerns of display lighting colour sound and graphics throughout are photographs drawings and diagrams of exhibitions including the work of such internationally renowned architects and designers as ralph appelbaum associates atelier bruckner casson mann frank gehry zaha hadid imagination metstudio and jean nouvel phenomenologies of the city studies in the history and philosophy of architecture brings architecture and urbanism into dialogue with phenomenology phenomenology has informed debate about the city from social sciences to cultural studies within architecture however phenomenological inquiry has been neglecting the question of the city addressing this lacuna this book suggests that the city presents not only the richest but also the politically most urgent horizon of reference for philosophical reflection on the cultural and ethical dimensions of architecture the contributors to this volume are architects and scholars of urbanism some have backgrounds in literature history religious studies and art history the book features 16 chapters by younger scholars as well as established thinkers including peter carl david leatherbarrow alberto pérez gomez wendy pullan and dalibor vesely rather than developing a single theoretical statement the book addresses architecture s relationship with the city in a wide range of historical and contemporary contexts the chapters trace hidden genealogies and explore the ruptures as much as the persistence of recurrent cultural motifs together these interconnected phenomenologies of the city raise simple but fundamental questions what is the city for how is it ordered and how can it be understood the book does not advocate a return to a naive sense of unity or order rather it investigates how architecture can generate meaning and forge as well as contest social and cultural representations the environmental imagination explores the relationship between tectonics and poetics in environmental design in architecture working thematically and chronologically from the eighteenth century to the present day this book redefines the historiography of environmental design by looking beyond conventional histories to argue that the environments within buildings are a collaboration between poetic intentions and technical means in a sequence of essays the book traces a line through works by leading architects of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries that illustrate the impact of new technologies on the conception and realisation of environments in buildings in this a consideration of the qualitative dimension of environment is added to the primarily technological narratives of other accounts in this second edition the book has been substantially rewritten and restructured to include further research conducted in the decade since the first edition a number of important buildings have been revisited in order to extend the descriptions of their environments and studies have been made of a number of newly studied significant buildings a completely new essay offers an environmental interpretation of luis barragán s magical own house in mexico city and the earlier studies of buildings by peter zumthor have been gathered into a single extended essay that includes a body of new research on the fiftieth anniversary of the publication of reynier banham s the architecture of the well tempered environment the book concludes with a critical tribute to that seminal text the environmental imagination will appeal to academics and practitioners with interests in the history theory and technology of architecture this profile offers insight into the links to be made between architecture and anthropology walking cities london second edition brings together a new interdisciplinary field of artists writers architects musicians human geographers and philosophers to consider how a city walk informs and triggers new processes of making thinking researching and communicating in particular the book examines how the city contains narratives knowledge and contested materialities that are best accessed through the act of walking the varied contributions take the form of short stories illustrated essays personal reflections and accounts of walks both real and fictional while artist and rca tutor rut blees luxemburg and philosopher jean luc nancy recount a nocturnal journey from shoreditch to the city of london architect peter st john of the practice caruso st john offers a detailed and personal reflection on the holloway road and architect and author douglas murphy examines what he calls london s more politically charged locations in his account of a solitary walk through an area of south london ultimately walking cities london seeks to understand the wider significance of changing geographies to generate critical questions and creative perspectives for navigating the social and political impact of rapid urban change intimate metropolis explores connections between the modern city its architecture and its citizens by questioning traditional conceptualizations of public and private rather than focusing purely on public spaces such as streets cafés gardens or department stores or on the domestic sphere the book investigates those spaces and practices that engage both the urban and the domestic the public and the private the legal political and administrative frameworks of urban life are seen as constituting private individuals sense of self in a wide range of european and world cities from amsterdam and barcelona to london and chicago providing authoritative new perspectives on individual citizenship as it relates to both public and private space in depth case studies of major european american and other world cities and written by an international set of contributors this volume is key reading for all students of architecture renaissance fun is about the technology of renaissance entertainments in stage machinery and theatrical special effects in gardens and fountains and in the automata and self playing musical instruments that were installed in garden grottoes how did the machines behind these shows work how exactly were chariots filled with singers let down onto the stage how were flaming dragons made to fly across the sky how were seas created on stage how did mechanical birds imitate real birdsong what was artificial music three centuries before edison and the phonograph how could pipe organs be driven and made to play themselves by waterpower alone and who were the architects engineers and craftsmen who created these wonders all these questions are answered at the end of the book we visit the lost garden of marvels at pratolino with its many grottoes automata and water jokes and we attend the performance of mercury and mars in parma in 1628 with its spectacular stage effects and its music by claudio monteverdi one of the places where opera was born renaissance fun is offered as an entertainment in itself but behind the show is a more serious scholarly argument centred on the enormous influence of two ancient writers on these subjects vitruvius and hero vitruvius's ten books on architecture were widely studied by renaissance theatre designers hero of alexandria wrote the pneumatics a collection of designs for surprising and entertaining devices that were the models for sixteenth and seventeenth century automata a second book by hero on automata making much less well known then and now describes two miniature theatres that presented plays without human intervention one of these it is argued provided the model for the type of proscenium theatre introduced from the mid sixteenth century the generic design which is still built today as the influence of vitruvius waned the influence of hero grew
