in this volume elif hilal karaman examines the lives of ephesian women in their historical and social contexts considering in particular their roles as mothers wives teachers and individuals in the private and public spheres she presents greco roman and early christian sources relevant to ephesus and relating to women including more than 300 ephesian inscriptions and analyses them comparatively by doing this she illuminates the impact of early christianity upon the roles of women the evidence presented demonstrates the extent to which early christian authors utilized greco roman cultural elements to construct a social background for the nascent christian communities for whom they wrote elif hilal karaman's work thus advocates for the interpretation of early christian texts in conversation with local archaeological and literary evidence in order to develop more nuanced understandings of the social and historical contexts of these important works in this study michael immendorfer examines the relationship between the new testament letter to the ephesians and the ancient city of ephesus which had the great artemis as its goddess he seeks to make a contribution to the discussion on the extent to which conclusions can be drawn concerning the local historical explanation of new testament epistles by viewing the latter through the lens of greco roman cultic practices thus the contents of ephesians are compared with the abundantly available archaeological and epigraphical sources of the asia minor metropolis this endeavour reveals that the letter contains numerous unequivocal references to the cult of artemis a nexus suggesting that the author was very familiar with the historical background of ancient ephesus and contextualised his letter accordingly for the intended readers who lived in this particular cultic environment
