providing new insights into the bianchi devotions a medieval popular religious revival which responded to an outbreak of plague at the turn of the fifteenth century this book takes a comparative local and regional approach to the bianchi challenging traditional presentations of the movement as homogeneous whole combining a rich collection of textual visual and material sources the study focuses on the two tuscan towns of lucca and pistoia alexandra r a lee demonstrates how the bianchi processions in central italy were moulded by secular and ecclesiastical authorities and shaped by local traditions as they attempted to prevent an epidemic the second world war wreaked unprecedented devastation throughout europe necessitating monumental reconstruction efforts that burdened not only governments but the lives of ordinary citizens war massacre and recovery in central italy 1943 1948 examines this transitional period in the province of arezzo by detailing the daily experiences of civilians through the traumas of war and the difficulties of recovery studying the aftermath of war in a new and insightful way victoria c belco shifts the perspective from the national to the local level with this localized focus she provides valuable insight into the ways in which civilians coped with an overwhelming range of problems from adjusting to allied occupation and widespread displacement to rampant unemployment and the restructuring of local administrations and institutions after fascism recreating the post war atmosphere of disorder need and political upheaval belco shows how the competing community interests caused social fragmentations that impeded change while the unity of a shared past prevented civil war
