is space a thing a container an abstraction a metaphor or a social construct this much is certain space is part and parcel of the theater of what it is and how it works in the play of space noted classicist director Rush Rehm offers a strikingly original approach to the spatial parameters of Greek tragedy as performed in the open air theater of Dionysus emphasizing the interplay between natural place and fictional setting between the world visible to the audience and that evoked by individual tragedies Rehm argues for an ecology of the ancient theater one that nests fifth century theatrical space within other significant social political and religious spaces of Athens drawing on the work of James J. Gibson Kurt Lewin and Michel Foucault Rehm crosses a range of disciplines classics theater studies cognitive psychology archaeology and architectural history cultural studies and performance theory to analyze the phenomenology of space and its transformations in the plays of Aeschylus Sophocles and Euripides his discussion of Athenian theatrical and spatial practice challenges the contemporary view that space represents a text to be read or constitutes a site of structural dualities e.g. outside inside public private nature culture chapters on specific tragedies explore the spatial dynamics of homecoming space for returns the opposed constraints of exile eremitic space devoid of normal community the power of bodies in extremis to transform their theatrical environment space and the body the portrayal of characters on the margin space and the other and the tragic interactions of space and temporality space time and memory an appendix surveys pre-Socratic thought on space and motion related ideas of Plato and Aristotle and as pertinent later views on space developed by Newton Leibniz Descartes Kant and Einstein eloquently written and with Greek texts deftly translated this book yields rich new insights into our oldest surviving drama
