the longing for authenticity on an individual or collective level connects the search for external expressions to internal orientations what is largely referred to as production of authenticity is a reformulation of cultural values and norms within the ongoing process of modernity impacted by globalization and contemporary transnational cultural flows this collection interrogates the notion of authenticity from an anthropological point of view and considers authenticity in terms of how meaning is produced in and through discourses about authenticity incorporating case studies from four continents the topics reach from art and colonialism to exoticism primitivism film ritual and wilderness some contributors emphasise the dichotomy between the academic use of the term and the one deployed in public spaces and political projects all however consider authenticity as something that can only be understood ethnographically and not as a simple characteristic or category used to distinguish some behaviors experiences or material things from other less authentic versions this book integrates culture and authenticity into chinese classroom practice through exploring the potential of contemporary tv drama as teaching and learning materials for intercultural chinese language teaching and learning in addressing the four main challenges in culture teaching in teaching chinese as a foreign language tcfl this book focuses on precisely this area of pedagogical practice in chinese as foreign language education and draws on a wide interdisciplinary base including foreign language education cultural studies and intercultural communication to explore the potential of authentic tv drama as language and culture materials for revitalising tcfl and foreign language teaching more generally it examines in detail the culturally shaped beliefs values and practices that give meaning to the action and language of the selected clips in a modern award winning chinese tv drama this book shows a potential experiential pathway into pedagogical practices to bring contemporary culture into classrooms to engage learners with contemporary and authentic texts and to encourage inquiry focused teaching practices which in being intercultural allow for learners own interpretations of cultural messages in interaction and to recognise learners as learning to understand their own values and beliefs as they learn to explore those of other cultures heritage tourism has become an increasingly significant component of the global tourism industry particularly in countries striving to diversify away from sea sand and sun this growth has had profound influences on the presentation and representation of both tangible and intangible heritage within tourism context the concept of heritage continues to evolve with its fast changing political economic and socio cultural surroundings therefore it is essential that heritage tourism engages with the new form of globalised communities and societies which have become more assimilated to each other but yet strive to sustain their own distinctive locality this book aims to offer a thorough critical examination and systematic evaluation of the unique dynamics of heritage and tourism development from both social sciences and management perspectives it incorporates both global and local perspectives in theorising and managing heritage tourism while focusing on reviewing and analysing key academic concepts and debates including authenticity commodification globalisation and heritage interpretation this book also discusses and evaluates topical issues such as sustainable development marketing strategies and digital technologies including social media it theoretically locates heritage discourses in the analysis of heritage tourism development and management drawing on various perspectives from tourism heritage studies sociology anthropology politics and geography to management and marketing studies including case studies of topical concerns controversies and challenges it will encourage readers to develop a new and insightful understanding of the dialectical relationship between heritage and tourism development this book is essential reading for students studying tourism heritage studies cultural studies as well as related disciplines in this first of three volumes dorrien identifies the indigenous roots of american liberal theology and demonstrates a wider longer running tradition than has been thought the tradition took shape in the nineteenth century motivated by a desire to map a modernist third way between orthodoxy and rationalistic deism atheism it is defined by its openness to modern intellectual inquiry its commitment to the authority of individual reason and experience its conception of christianity as an ethical way of life and its commitment to make christianity credible and socially relevant to modern people dorrien takes a narrative approach and provides a biographical reading of important religious thinkers of the time including william e channing ralph waldo emerson horace bushnell henry ward beecher elizabeth cady stanton and charles briggs dorrien notes that although liberal theology moved into elite academic institutions its conceptual foundations were laid in the pulpit rather than the classroom
