in this groundbreaking new book jones shows how some of the major determining leaders in modern thought and culture have rationalized their own immoral behavior and projected it onto a universal canvas the main thesis of this book is that in the intellectual life there are only two ultimate alternatives either the thinker conforms desire to truth or he conforms truth to desire in the last one hundred years the western cultural elite embarked upon a project which entailed the reversal of the values of the intellectual life so that truth would be subjected to desire as the final criterion of intellectual value in looking at recent biographies of such major moderns as freud kinsey keynes margaret mead picasso and others there is a remarkable similarity between their lives and thought after becoming involved in sexual license early on they invariably chose an ideology or art form which subordinated reality to the exigencies of their sexual misbehavior

a teacher of communication expresses his concern for thousands of students who are cheating themselves out of a worthwhile education by falling into the accepted role of nonperson uninvolved in the education process in this book the author fosters a belief that success or failure in college depends on communication interdependent efforts of people in a relationship to generate common meaning he proposes to get students to realize that their education is something other students can help them develop as much as teachers the author uses a personal style of writing to talk with the students he uses examples from the students immediate campus environment in challenging them to question their roles in the educational process written for and tested in interpersonal communication courses the book is also appropriate for teacher education courses orientation to college life courses and for college counseling centers
