on saturday 9th september 1922 the victorious turkish cavalry rode into smyrna the richest and most cosmopolitan city in the ottoman empire what happened over the next two weeks must rank as one of the most compelling human dramas of the twentieth century almost two million people were caught up in a disaster of truly epic proportions paradise lost is told with the narrative verve that has made giles milton a bestselling historian it unfolds through the memories of the survivors many of them interviewed for the first time and the eyewitness accounts of those who found themselves caught up in one of the greatest catastrophes of the modern age a powerful tale of destruction heroism and survival tells the largely untold story of the most dramatic and horrific events of the 20th century the burning of smyrna when governor john white sailed for england from roanoke island in august 1587 he left behind more than 100 men women and children they were never seen again by europeans for more than four centuries the fate of the roanoke colony has remained a mystery despite the many attempts to construct a satisfactory convincing explanation new research suggests that all past and present theories are based upon a series of erroneous assumptions that have persisted for centuries through a close examination of the early accounts previously unknown or unexamined documents and native algonquian oral tradition this book deconstructs the traditional theories what emerges is a fresh narrative of the ultimate fate of the lost colony offers a chilling account of the 1922 destruction of the city of smyrna a wealthy cosmopolitan and primarily christian city in the ottoman empire by turkish troops a devastating attack that left the city in ruins and more than 100 000 people dead and the lack of intervention on the part of allied warships in the nearby harbor presents a comprehensive a to z reference with approximately 400 entries providing facts about british poets and their poetry from the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries what caused dickens to leap out of bed one night and walk 30 miles from london to kent how did a small town on the welsh borders become the second hand bookshop capital of the world why did a jellyfish persuade evelyn waugh to abandon his suicide attempt in north wales a multitude of curious questions are answered in britain by the book a fascinating travelogue with a literary theme taking in unusual writers haunts and the surprising places that inspired some of our favourite fictional locations we ll learn why thomas hardy was buried twice how a librarian in manchester invented the thesaurus as a means of coping with depression and why agatha christie was investigated by mi5 during the second world war the map of britain that emerges is one dotted with interesting literary stories and bookish curiosities these essays throw new light on the complex relations between science literature and rhetoric as avenues to discovery in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries scholars from a variety of disciplinary backgrounds examine the agency of early modern poets playwrights essayists philosophers natural philosophers and artists in remaking their culture and reforming ideas about human understanding analyzing the ways in which the works of such diverse writers as shakespeare bacon hobbes milton cavendish boyle pope and behn related to contemporary epistemological debates these essays move us toward a better understanding of interactions between the sciences and the humanities during a seminal phase in the emergence of modern western thought in this marvellous collection of fascinating footnotes giles milton delves into the little known stories from history covering everything from adventure war murder and slavery to espionage including the stories of the female robinson crusoe hitler s final hours japan s deadly balloon bomb and the emperor of the united states these tales deserve to be told
