this book offers a unique interdisciplinary perspective on argument structure and its role in language acquisition the volume is the outcome of an integrated research project and comprises chapters by both specialists in first language acquisition and field linguists working on a variety of lesser known languages drawing on a broad range of crosslinguistic data crosslinguistic perspectives on argument structure integrates important contemporary issues in linguistics and language acquisition this volume contains 12 papers addressed to researchers and advanced students in informal logic and related fields such as argumentation formal logic and communications among the issues discussed are attempts to rethink the nature of argument and of inference the role of dialectical context and the standards for evaluating inferences and to shed light on the interfaces between informal logic and argumentation theory rhetoric formal logic and cognitive psychology the primary focus of the updated second edition has not changedit embraces the narrative or storytelling approach to the study of argumentation the first section introduces readers to rhetorical theorists and their principles these significant contributions to the field of argumentation and debate include aristotles views on audiences and the ethical character of an advocate burkes dramatistic theory of communication brockriedes metaphorical image of arguers fishers narrative paradigm mills guidelines for testing the causal correlation perelman and obrechts tytecas conception of a universal audience rokeachs definition of values and toulmins model for developing and analyzing argument claims and his conception of arguments as field dependent hollihan and baaskes discussions of these ideas and their applications are easy to follow unencumbered by technical jargon and illustrated with engaging examples drawn from current and well known historical events the key to the success of this text is the authors ability to show readers how foundational principles of argumentation are used in a variety of real world situations the second section covers specialized contexts such as academic debates courts of law politics business and organizations and interpersonal relationships activities that stimulate critical thinking and the implementation of the ideas discussed are provided at the end of each chapter relevant to and drawing from a range of disciplines the chapters in this collection show the diversity and applicability of research in bayesian argumentation together they form a challenge to philosophers versed in both the use and criticism of bayesian models who have largely overlooked their potential in argumentation selected from contributions to a multidisciplinary workshop on the topic held in sweden in 2010 the authors count linguists and social psychologists among their number in addition to philosophers they analyze material that includes real life court cases experimental research results and the insights gained from computer models the volume provides for the first time a formal measure of subjective argument strength and argument force robust enough to allow advocates of opposing sides of an argument to agree on the relative strengths of their supporting reasoning with papers from leading figures such as michael oaksford and ulrike hahn the book comprises recent research conducted at the frontiers of bayesian argumentation and provides a multitude of examples in which these formal tools can be applied to informal argument it signals new and impending developments in philosophy which has seen bayesian models deployed in formal epistemology and philosophy of science but has yet to explore the full potential of bayesian models as a framework in argumentation in doing so this revealing anthology looks destined to become a standard teaching text in years to come argumentation is often understood as a coherent set of western theories birthed in athens and developing throughout the roman period the middle ages the enlightenment and renaissance and into the present century ideas have been nuanced developed and revised but still the outline of argumentation theory has been recognizable for centuries or so it has seemed to western scholars the 2019 alta conference on argumentation co sponsored by the national communication association and the american forensic association aimed to question the generality of these intellectual traditions this resulting collection of essays deals with the possibility of having local theories of argument local to a particular time a particular kind of issue a particular place or a particular culture many of the papers argue for reconsidering basic ideas about arguing to represent the uniqueness of some moment or location of discourse other scholars are more comfortable with the western traditions and find them congenial to the analysis of arguments that originate in discernibly distinct circumstances the papers represent different methodologies cover the experiences of different nations at different times examine varying sorts of argumentative events speeches court decisions food choices and sound explore particular personal identities and the issues highlighted by them and have different overall orientations to doing argumentation scholarship considered together the essays do not generate one simple conclusion but they stimulate reflection about the particularity or generality of the experience of arguing and therefore the scope of our theories from academic writing to personal and public discourse the need for good arguments and better ways of arguing is greater than ever before this timely fifth edition of a rulebook for arguments sharpens an already classic text adding updated examples and a new chapter on public debates that provides rules for the etiquette and ethics of sound public dialogue as well as clear and sound thinking in general this extensively updated second edition provides a comprehensive introduction to argumentation skills for undergraduates clearly written with minimal technical jargon the book features many contemporary real world examples through a unique conceptual framework students will learn how to assemble a coherent logical argument assess sources and organize and present written and verbal arguments the authors use the toulmin model throughout to present issues and clarify concepts and have expanded the model to show how it can be used to examine real world arguments this new edition provides a deeper focus on value claims and credibility it also shows students how to assess fake news misinformation and post truth and incorporates more social scientific theories of persuasion such as the elaboration likelihood model argumentation keeping faith with reason is an ideal textbook for undergraduate courses in argumentation persuasion critical thinking and informal logic an instructor s manual including advice on how to teach each section sample quizzes and additional examples is available at routledge.com/9781032541228
