first published in 1998 this volume considers the subject of arts policy as a subject of public policy making proper in uk and ireland with a particular focus on theatre as a profession rather than a mere hobby previous studies have placed the burden of policy improvements on the arts themselves looking at what the arts can do to be worthy of government funding and favourable policy and have seen government actions as if they have a uniform effect this study takes the arts out of the abstract and discusses specific ways that diverse activities with even more diverse needs can be best approached with government policy assessing the strengths and weaknesses of government initiatives it is aimed at both political scientists and anyone with an interest in arts and cultural policy
