this book is for christian readers of fiction who might experience difficulty trying to make an informed choice beyond what is being published by evangelical presses marketed to a specific target audience evangelical fiction oftentimes leaves a reader with a strong emotional response but lacks the literary depth or the breadth of subject that could inspire life changing spiritual growth with this premise at the heart of her book connie wineland includes her own story of conversion to christianity by way of reading fiction during her late twenties and early thirties particularly while in graduate school wineland became immersed in literary and rhetorical studies while also practicing an eastern form of religion as well as native american spirituality however despite all her training in literary theory her readings in romantic victorian modern and postmodern literature which she explains as well as her personal interest in mythology and world religions kept her questioning the existence of god and the possible nature of god then as a relatively new convert to christianity she faced several challenges at a small christian college where she taught literature and writing courses eventually wanting to reach beyond the academic community wineland began a local christian readers group which she ran for four years she includes in this book resources and materials such as sample syllabi and study guide questions useful addresses and plenty of how to information for starting and running your own book club also included is an extensive list of annotated titles of recommended reading to get anyone started since 1977 people have asked jane hall over and over what it was like to have been among the first few female members in the rcmp and like so many of her peers she has avoided answering the question how could one sentence do the question justice finally after years of thoughtful contemplation she has borrowed a phrase from the father of one of the original members of the north west mounted police sub inspector francis dickens it was the best of times it was the worst of times but the reason for avoiding the answer like the question itself was a little more complex than simply not having the correct words to truly tell the complete story some of the bad as well as the good must be told and that was why senior female members like ms hall had chosen to remain silent fearing that any abbreviated response could be misinterpreted or subverted to unfairly attack the rcmp after all it was the rcmp who broke new social and professional ground when it decided in the absence of any empirical evidence to the contrary the assumption had to be that females would be capable of performing all the diversified duties in the force equal to the males the rcmp the embodiment of the canadian national identity levelled the professional playing field for women and by doing so in this unprecedented leadership role the rcmp catapulted the women s movement forward impacting the lives of women throughout north america and quite possibly the world says jane hall it is time to break the silence time to acknowledge our successes and our failures time to move forward
