seminar paper from the year 2007 in the subject english language and literature studies culture and applied geography grade 1 3 otto von guericke university magdeburg institut für anglistik language english abstract while the most obvious function of language is to communicate information with other people language also contributes to two other important functions to establish and maintain social relationships and to express and create the social identity of the speaker these functions may be recognized less often because information such as class or race is conveyed not as much through what we say as through how we say it in other words information is conveyed as much by how we compose our utterances as through the precise character of our thought this is certainly true of gender all of us have different styles of communicating with other people our style depends on a lot of things where we are from how and where we were brought up our educational background our age and it also can depend on our gender generally speaking men and women talk differently although there are varying degrees of masculine and feminine speech characteristics in each of us but men and women speak in particular ways mostly because those ways are associated with their gender the styles that men and women use to communicate have been described as debate vs relate report vs rapport or competitive vs cooperative men often seek straightforward solutions to problems and useful advice whereas women tend to try and establish intimacy by discussing problems and showing concern and empathy in order to reinforce relationships at the end of this term paper the reader ought to have an overview of the different studies existing in gender language thus the question of differences between these studies ought to be clarified many authors have different opinion concerning this topic whereas this term paper investigates similarities and differences between these opi context counts assembles for the first time the work of pre eminent linguist robin tolmach lakoff a career that spans some forty years lakoff remains one of the most influential linguists of the 20th century the early papers show the genesis of lakoff s inquiry into the relationship of language and social power ideas later codified in the groundbreaking language and woman s place and talking power the late papers reflect her continued exposition of power dynamics beyond gender that are established and represented in language this volume offers a retrospective analysis of lakoff s work with each paper preceded by an introduction from a prominent linguist in the field including both contemporaries and students of lakoff s work and further lakoff s own conversation with these responses this engaging and at times moving reevaluation pays homage to lakoff s far reaching influence upon linguistics while also serving as an unusual form of autobiography revealing the decades long evolution of a scholarly career grade 2 0 b humboldt university of berlin anglistics american studies course the linguistic situation in the usa 7 entries in the bibliography language english abstract the belief in sex differences has a long tradition researches of social scientists have helped to create and confirm this belief and have helped to develop theories which stress differences rather than similarities robin lakoff was one of the first linguists who proposed that women's speech style is a powerless style she introduced the term women's language which implies that women and men speak different languages lakoff and others have claimed that differences in male and female language have their source in early childhood socialisation the assertiveness training movement which emerged in the 1970s was first established to help people who have communication problems and was later designed especially for women to solve their alleged problems of speech style and male female communication in the 1980s another approach gained popularity the origins lie in the work of the linguist john gumperz the two cultures approach maintains that communication between women and men is communication across cultures because the reasons for misunderstanding between them are similar to those of ethnic groups more recent works of elizabeth aries and mary crawford challenge these approaches and demonstrate that similarities between men and women are far greater than differences in this paper i want to discuss several approaches to gender differences and try to answer the questions whether there are differences in male female communication and what the causes are for these differences seminar paper from the year 2007 in the subject english language and literature studies linguistics grade 1 0 university of heidelberg anglistisches seminar course hauptseminar cognitive linguistics 9 entries in the bibliography language english abstract language is versatile language is complex language can be a mystery for example why do we say chair leg although legs are usually thought of being a part of the human body or an animal why do we refer to the ground where a river runs through as a river bed is a bed not usually an object that we use to sleep in and why is it that we can say i'm surfing the web although surfing typically means to ride one's board on ocean waves the news report says the iraq democracy is in its infancy would we not typically use infancy when we talk about children or refer to a person's childhood if we consider the above examples we can easily draw the conclusion that these words besides their original meaning can be used outside of their natural environment words and their meaning can be transferred to a different domain the name for such a transfer is metaphor this paper will highlight lakoff's and johnson's major claim that metaphor is not only a poetic device or simply a linguistic matter of spoken words but that our ordinary conceptual system in terms of which we both think and act is fundamentally metaphorical in nature lakoff johnson 1980 3 i shall explain some of the most important devices of their theory such as target source and mapping and briefly elucidate the systematicity that underlies metaphorical conceptualization the analysis of the conceptual metaphor love is a journey will reveal some ambiguities about lakoff s and johnson s theory by doing this i will consider some of the major critiques and analyze whether there is an underlying conceptual metaphoric system in our everyday language
