the core of what we refer to as the project of modernity is the idea that human beings have the power to bring the world under their control and hence it is based on a kinetic utopia the movement of the world as a whole reflects the implementation of our plans for it but as soon as the kinetic utopia of modernity is exposed its seemingly stable foundation cracks open and new problems appear things don't happen according to plan because as we actualize our plans we set in motion other things that we didn't want as unintended side effects we watch with mounting unease as the self-perpetuating side effects of modern progress overshadow our plans as a foreign movement breaks off from the very core of the modern project supposedly guided by reason and slips away from us spinning out of control what looked like a steady march towards freedom turns out to be a slide into an uncontrollable and catastrophic syndrome of perpetual mobilization and precisely because so much comes about through our actions these developments turn out to have explosive consequences for our self-understanding as we begin to realize that so far from bringing the world under our control we are instead the agents of our own destruction in this brilliant and insightful book sloterdijk lays out the elements of a new critical theory of modernity understood as a critique of political kinetics shifting the focus of critical theory from production to mobilization and shedding new light on a world facing the growing risk of humanly induced catastrophe brill's companion to the reception of cicero is a collection of essays by an international and interdisciplinary team of scholars that situates cicero in the context of his use and abuse from antiquity to the present and is intended to provide readers with several good reasons to return to the study of cicero s writings with greater interest and respect lee morrissey explores how milton s major late poems narrate varying responses to modernity adjustment avoidance and antagonism rethinking the relationship between eighteenth century pietist traditions and enlightenment thought and practice the practices of enlightenment unravels the complex and often neglected religious origins of modern secular discourse mapping surprising routes of exchange between the religious and aesthetic writings of the period and recentering concerns of authorship and audience this book revitalizes scholarship on the enlightenment by engaging with three critical categories aesthetics authorship and the public sphere the practices of enlightenment illuminates the relationship between religious and aesthetic modes of reflective contemplation autobiography and the hermeneutics of the self and the discursive creation of the public sphere focusing largely on german intellectual life this critical engagement also extends to france through rousseau and to england through shaftesbury rereading canonical works and lesser known texts by goethe lessing and herder the book challenges common narratives recounting the rise of empiricist philosophy the idea of the sensible individual and the notion of the modern author as celebrity bringing new perspective to the enlightenment concepts of instinct drive genius and the public sphere
