examines the supreme court's unanimous 1952 decision in favor of a film exhibitor who had been denied a license to show the controversial Italian film Il Miracolo. The ruling was a watershed event in the history of film censorship, ushering in a new era of mature and sophisticated American filmmaking.

A remarkable collection of insight and inspiration from 20 leaders and thinkers including Elizabeth Warren, Howard Zinn, and Oliver Stone. Publishers Weekly starred review. As a kid, Noam Chomsky handed out the Daily Mirror at his uncle's newsstand on 72nd Street, inadvertently finding himself in a buzzing intellectual and political hub for European immigrants in New York. Iranian human rights Nobelist Shirin Ebadi and her husband signed their own legal contract attempting to restore equality to their marriage after the Iranian revolution effectively erased the legal rights of women. Elizabeth Warren set out to expose those frauds declaring bankruptcy and taking advantage of the system, only to discover in her research a very different story of hard-working middle-class families facing economic collapse in the absence of a social safety net. While studying at Oxford, a young Tariq Ali made a bet with a friend that he could work the Vietnam War into every single answer on his final exams. In this rousing, thoughtful, often funny, and always inspiring volume, a diverse and impressive group of thinkers reflect on those formative experiences that shaped their own political commitments. A fascinating new window into the revealing links between the personal and the political, political awakenings will engage readers across generations. Fascinating booklist.

By looking at the interactions between cinema and psychology, Packer offers readers clear and basic insights into some of the most fundamental reasons why film is such an important influence upon our lives today. Movies and the Modern Psyche first describes the basic concepts of psychoanalysis, experimental psychology, behavioral conditioning, and hypnosis, which have all played major roles in the histories of both film and psychiatry it then goes on to discuss the recent rise in film therapy drug treatments treatment for drug abuse and the closing of asylums to show how shifts in treatment techniques theories and settings are foreshadowed and fossilized by film psychology and cinema are kindred cousins born at the same time and developing together so that each influences the other from the mind controlling villains that occupy early horror films and cold war thrillers like Caligari Mabuse and the ipress file to the asylums that house numberless political allegories and personal dramas in Shock Corridor Spellbound One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest and Girl Interrupted to the drugs phobias and disorders that pervade so many of our favorite films including as a small sample Vertigo Night of the Hunter Psycho Rainman Fight Club Requiem for a Dream and Batman Begins there is no escaping either psychology in the movies or the movies in psychology by looking at the interactions between cinema and psychology this book offers readers clear and basic insights into some of the most fundamental reasons why film is such an important influence upon our lives today movies and the modern psyche first describes the basic concepts of psychoanalysis experimental psychology behavioral conditioning and hypnosis which have all played major roles in the histories of both film and psychiatry it then goes on to discuss the recent rise in film therapy drug treatments treatment for drug abuse and the closing of asylums to show how shifts in treatment techniques theories and settings are foreshadowed and fossilized by film the first transnational history of cinema's role in decolonization using popular cinema from the united states britain and france empire films and the crisis of colonialism 1946-1959 examines postwar western attitudes toward colonialism and race relations historians have written much about the high politics of decolonization but little about what ordinary citizens thought about losing their empires popular cinema provided the main source of images of the colonies and according to jon cowans in this far reaching book films depicting the excesses of empire helped westerners come to terms with decolonization and even promoted the dismantling of colonialism around the globe examining more than one hundred british french and american films from the post world war ii era cowans concentrates on movies that depict interactions between white colonizers and nonwhite colonial subjects including sexual and romantic relations although certain conservative films eagerly supported colonialism cowans argues that the more numerous liberal colonialist productions undermined support for key aspects of colonial rule while a few more provocative films openly favored anticolonial movements and urged internal decolonization for people of color in britain france and the united states combining new archival research on the films production with sharp analysis of their imagery and political messages the book also assesses their reception through box office figures and newspaper reviews it examines both high profile and lesser known films on overseas colonialism including the king and i bhowani junction and island in the sun and tackles treatments of miscegenation and internal colonialism that appeared in westerns and american films like pinky and giant the first truly transnational history of cinema s role in decolonization this powerful book weaves a unified historical narrative out of the experiences of three colonial powers in diverse geographic settings
