george orson welles 1915 1985 is considered to be among the greatest and most influential filmmakers of all time at just twenty five years old he cowrote produced directed and starred in his academy award winning debut film citizen kane 1941 his innovative and distinctive directorial style nonlinear narratives unusual camera angles deep focus shots and long takes continues to be emulated by directors and cinematographers to this day the brilliant yet provocative welles won multiple grammys a golden globe and the greatest honor the directors guild of america bestowed the d w griffith award his final film the other side of the wind was released in 2018 33 years after his death in citizen welles a biography of orson welles author frank brady presents a comprehensive and complete picture of the artist and auteur painstakingly researched brady delves into welles s creative achievements from his critically acclaimed film citizen kane and controversial radio broadcast the war of the worlds 1938 to his starring turn on broadway in shaw s heartbreak house for which he made the cover of time brady also explores other notable films including the magnificent ambersons 1942 touch of evil 1958 and chimes at midnight 1965 this all encompassing work also details the personal side of welles s life including his romances with rita hayworth and dolores del rio and the confounding tragedy of his final years presented is a captivating and compelling encapsulation of the revered and respected artist

this edition of a history of shakespeare on screen updates the chronology to 2003 with a new chapter on recent films orson welles was a metamorphic man a magical shape changer who made up myths about himself and permitted others to add to their store on different occasions he likened himself to christ mankind s redeemer and to lucifer the rebel angel who brought about the fall his persona compounded the roles he played kings despots generals captains of industry autocratic film directors and the more or less fictitious exploits with which he regaled other people or which they attributed to him hailed in childhood as a genius he remained mystified by his own promise unable to understand or control an intellect that he came to think of as a curse and he ended his days shilling wine and performing magic tricks on talk shows at times he saw the collapse of his early ambitions as a tragedy in other moods he viewed his life as a humbling comedy and settled down like another favorite character shakespeare s falstaff to eat drink and be irresponsibly merry rather than producing another conventional biography of welles peter conrad has set out to investigate the stories welles told about his life the myths and secret histories hidden in films both made and unmade in the books welles wrote and those he read the result takes us deep into welles imagination showing how he created then ultimately destroyed himself some innovators are luminous shooting stars think pablo picasso albert einstein sylvia plath bob dylan steve jobs who make bold leaps early and suddenly then lose their creativity others are late bloomers paul cezanne charles darwin virginia woolf alfred hitchcock warren buffett who show little early promise but spend long periods doggedly pursuing distant goals and attain greatness in old age by analyzing the careers of scores of great innovators this book reveals systematic differences in the motivations and methods of these two types and their very different patterns of creativity over the life cycle the result is a new and deeper unified understanding of the sources of human creativity on the evening of october 30 1938 radio listeners across the united states heard a startling report of a meteor strike in the new jersey countryside with sirens blaring in the background announcers in the field described mysterious creatures terrifying war machines and thick clouds of poison gas moving toward new york city as the invading force approached manhattan some listeners sat transfixed while others ran to alert neighbors or to call the police some even fled their homes but the hair raising broadcast was not a real news bulletin it was orson welles s adaptation of the h g wells classic the war of the worlds in broadcast hysteria a brad schwartz boldly retells the story of welles s famed radio play and its impact did it really spawn a wave of mass hysteria as the new york times reported schwartz is the first to examine the hundreds of letters sent to orson welles himself in the days after the broadcast and his findings challenge the conventional wisdom few listeners believed an actual attack was under way but even so schwartz shows that welles s broadcast became a major scandal prompting a different kind of mass panic as americans debated the bewitching power of the radio and the country s vulnerability in a time of crisis when the debate was over american broadcasting had changed for good but not for the better as schwartz tells this story we observe how an atmosphere of natural disaster and impending war permitted broadcasters to create shared live national experiences for the first time we follow orson welles s rise to fame and watch his manic energy and artistic genius at work in the play s hurried yet innovative production and we trace the present day popularity of fake news back to its source in welles s show and its many imitators schwartz s original research gifted storytelling and thoughtful analysis make broadcast hysteria a groundbreaking new look at a crucial but little understood episode in american history this volume is the only publication available of the fully annotated playscripts of wells w p a federal theatre project and mercury theatre adaptations including the voodoo macbeth the modern dress julius caesar and welles compilation of history plays five kings film and genocide brings together scholars of film and of genocide to discuss film representations both fictional and documentary of the holocaust the armenian genocide and genocides in chile australia rwanda and the united states since 1955 when alain resnais created his experimental documentary night and fog about the nazis mass killings of jews and other ostracized groups filmmakers have struggled with using this medium to tell such difficult stories to re create the sociopolitical contexts of genocide and to urge awareness and action among viewers this volume looks at such issues as realism versus fiction the challenge of depicting atrocities in a manner palatable to spectators and film distributors the holocaust film as a model for films about other genocides and the role of new technologies in disseminating films about genocide film and genocide also includes interviews with three film directors who discuss their experiences in working with deeply disturbing images and bringing hidden stories to life irek dobrowolski director of the portraitist 2005 a documentary about wilhelm brasse an auschwitz birkenau prisoner ordered to take more than 40 000 photos at the camp nick hughes director of 100 days 2005 a dramatic film about the rwandan mass killings and greg barker director of ghosts of rwanda 2004 a television documentary for frontline

in this first volume of his masterful highly acclaimed biography simon callow captures the genius of orson welles revealing a life even more extraordinary than the myths that have surrounded it a splendidly entertaining definitive work entertainment weekly of photos as garment workers longshoremen autoworkers sharecroppers and clerks took to the streets striking and organizing unions in the midst of the depression artists writers and filmmakers joined the insurgent social movement by creating a cultural front disney cartoonists walked picket lines and billie holiday sand strange fruit at the left wing cabaret caf society duke ellington produced a radical musical jump for joy new york garment workers staged the legendary broadway revue pins and needles and orson welles and his mercury players took their labor operas and anti fascist shakespeare to hollywood and made citizen kane a major reassessment of us cultural history the cultural front is a vivid mural of this extraordinary upheaval which reshaped american culture in the twentieth century
