this interdisciplinary book provides timely fresh perspective on palestine israel by rethinking the nature of settler colonial sovereignty and the relationship between land and people muhammad ayyash argues that this relationship comes in two distinct forms a settler colonial type practiced by the israeli state that consists of lordship over land and people and a decolonial type seen in palestinian popular organizing that he calls land as life a reciprocal bond the former is characterized by private ownership possession and violent expulsion of others the latter by communal ownership belonging to the land and opposition to the violence of expulsion ranging widely across theory and history ayyash contends that the opposition between these two types is at the core of the palestinian israeli struggle the choice before us today he concludes is between the continuation of the israeli settler colonial project in particular and the project of colonial modernity in general or the commencement of a decolonial age in palestine israel and beyond offering both novel theorizations and politically engaged analysis lordship and liberation in palestine israel illuminates how decolonial sovereignties represent an alternative to settler colonial violence the quest for an inclusive and independent state has been at the center of the palestinian national struggle for a very long time this book critically reexamines this quest by exploring the meaning of palestinian statehood and the challenges that face alternative models to it today rethinking statehood in palestine gives prominence to a young set of diverse palestinian scholars both men and women to show how notions of citizenship sovereignty and nationhood are being currently rethought within the broader context of decolonization bringing forth critical and multifaceted engagements with what palestinian self determination entails within a larger regional context this groundbreaking book sets the terms of debate for the future of palestine beyond partition decolonial imaginaries in palestinian experimental film and video focuses on an underexamined group of female palestinian filmmakers highlighting their relevance for thinking through a diverse set of issues relating to decolonial aesthetics post nationalism and gender non western ecologies trauma and memory diasporic experiences of space biopolitics feminist historiography and decolonial temporalities positing that these filmmaker artists radically counter dominant media images of palestinians deessentializing palestinian identity while opening up history and the present to new potentialities and ways of imagining palestinian futures decolonial imaginaries in palestinian experimental film and video argues that palestinian experience is urgently relevant to all of us as the works address issues of food availability and land use environmental collapse and forced displacement hole explores how such films generate hope imagine impossible possibilities and offer inspiration and wisdom when it comes to losing and rebuilding addressing a fundamentally transnational and understudied area this book will resonate with readers working in the areas of film and media studies palestinian cultural studies historiography middle east studies and experimental film this meticulously curated edited volume presents an assemblage of insightful critical and contemporary perspectives on how israeli domination has been sustained and reproduced in new forms and means using various mechanisms and techniques of control coloniality and settler colonialism based on original empirical fieldwork the contributors to this book adopt interdisciplinary and decolonial approaches in their examination of the intricate functions and structures of domination that permeate palestinian life by illuminating the power dynamics at play and revealing the mechanisms that sustain the settler colonial regime this book identifies sites of colonial control and domination exerted on palestine by israel and demonstrates how these sites of control are also sites of palestinian resistance the first section explores the political sites of control by focusing on governmentality institutions and technologies and mechanisms of control including how israel manages access to health life and death the second section examines the economic mechanisms of exploitation dispossession and development including banking taxation and the relationships between finance capital aid and military occupation the third section turns attention to environmental sites of control focusing on land indigeneity space and racial capitalism finally section four scrutinizes the intellectual sites of control highlighting how norms narratives and knowledge production perpetuate domination the israeli palestinian conflict gravitates constantly around the question of territorial control due to the settler colonial principle present at the core of the zionist project acknowledging space as a central tool of domination used by the israeli authorities this volume sheds light on the way space can become both a resource for and an outcome of protest with an emphasis placed on the way it is used and produced through practices of resistance by subaltern groups the research relies on a comparative approach relying on data collected in the course of fieldwork conducted between 2012 and 2015 in palestine and israel it focuses on three sites of contention which include the h2 area in hebron the occupied old city under israeli authority the core neighbourhoods of silwan wadi hilwe and al bustan and the unrecognized bedouin village of al araqib in the negev desert through these three case studies the book tackles different strategies that engage with the materiality of space place sense of place territory landscape network and scale showing the mobilization of a real spatial repertoire of contention the different regimes of control give rise to strategies that are first and foremost emplaced i e rooted in the local providing an original comparison between flashpoints of the palestinian resistance against the israeli politics of dispossession and expulsion the book is a key resource for scholars and readers interested in political geography political science sociology and the israel palestine conflict as the first cultural history of palestinian aviation palestine in the air reveals civil aviation s role in the question of palestine over the past century how do palestinians as individuals communities and as a nascent state engage with the air how does their systemic exclusion from aerial agency inform dominant and counter narratives of culture and modernity international civil aviation is a powerful tool for the disenfranchisement of palestinian statehood connectivity and mobility yet palestinians have constantly sought to harness aviation as a legitimate component of modern state building they have also creatively appropriated aviation technologies including balloons kites and drones as instruments of resistance exploiting flight s symbolic qualities of escape and liberation to highlight the injustices of occupation using an interdisciplinary approach that draws on media studies cultural studies critical theory diplomacy and history palestine in the air examines civil aviation s political social and cultural impact upon the palestinian quest for sovereignty the book makes use of an unprecedented range of aviation related sources spanning unpublished memoirs print and image archives interviews art film literature poetry and stand up comedy a palestinian american recalls his adolescence in gaza during the second intifada and how he made a commitment to peace in this transformative memoir in the gaza strip growing up on land owned by his family for centuries fourteen year old yousef bashir was preoccupied with soccer school pranks and meeting his father s impossibly high standards dignified and empathetic kind yet strict yousef s father was a pillar of strength for his family and community though he and yousef butted heads fiercely they loved each other unconditionally despite an israeli settlement hovering on its periphery the gaza of yousef s childhood could only be described as a paradise that all changed when the second intifada exploded and israeli soldiers seized the bashir family home yousef was forced to learn the rules of a new life in captivity and to watch his father treat the invading soldiers as honored guests a testament not only to his father s desire for peace between palestine and israel but also to his unshakeable belief that it was truly within reach yet nothing could prepare yousef or his father for the israeli bullet that would instantly transform both of their lives a riveting tale of a father and son of reckoning and redemption yousef s story is a heart wrenching reminder in these troubled times that forgiveness is a gift and a choice excerpt from to day in palestine no country has been so much studied by our ablest men and had so much written about it as palestine it is however an inexhaustible subject as the land where jesus lived taught and died it will never cease to be in the daily thought of the christian and therefore i think there is room for many more volumes that give to us a fuller knowledge of the land and people i have written primarily for the traveler a visit to palestine is no longer a difficult trip made by a few who delight and awe their friends and countrymen on their return it is no more difficult than a tour in england except that it is farther away and the country is not yet in all respects prepared to furnish the comfort and speed of more advanced lands many have made this tour and described it but i do not think any person however gifted can gain a correct knowledge of the land in a single trip the first trip only opens the way and gives a foundation upon which to build the only special claim that i can make for this book is that it embodies the observations of ten journeys often ideas that seemed reasonably well founded have with more experience been radically changed a fair knowledge of colloquial arabic has enabled me to learn directly from the people about the publisher forgotten books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books find more at forgottenbooks.com this book is a reproduction of an important historical work forgotten books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy in rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition we do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works how is the israel palestine question narrated in western academia what ideas dominate the key textbooks on the subject and what is presented as truth this book answers these critical questions it is widely known that western support of israel played a vital role in the realization of zionist objectives in palestine but academic support of israel in the west has been a neglected issue with western academic knowledge being regarded as impartial and objective this book reveals that this understanding of western academic knowledge is wrong when it comes to the israel palestine question rather knowledge has been biased misleading and dogmatic and western college students are subscribing to factual histories based on theories at best if not fiction the book is the first empirical investigation able to document this partial reporting of history seyed hadi borhani examines the most popular college level textbooks used to teach the history of the israel palestine in western universities combining textbook analysis to determine how the dominant academic texts report the question and a context analysis to identify who manufactures the dominant knowledge the book provides a historical map of how the israel palestine conflict is understood in the west the book can be used as a critique for students and professors to use alongside textbooks and is a vital and much needed intervention into the state of affairs in western academia
