excerpt from the Matabele rebellion 1896 with the Belingwe field force secondly to captain Harman Hopper and the twenty brave fellows who volunteered to follow him from Victoria to march to our assistance strengthening us by their numbers as well as bringing with them a much wanted supply of ammunition and a Maxim gun little has been said or heard of captain Hopper up to the present but I feel certain that of those who are indebted to him and his companions the men of Belingwe will always be glad to recall his name and those of the men who followed him I am also sure that none of the garrison will ever forget the pang of pleasure and relief that shot through their breasts when Hopper's advance guard appeared on the crown of the ridge about a mile east of the Belingwe fort about the publisher forgotten books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books find more at forgottenbooks.com this book is a reproduction of an important historical work forgotten books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy in rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition we do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works this volume deals with the conquest and colonization of zimbabwe and the establishment of southern rhodesia from the beginnings of british involvement in bechuanaland to the death of Cecil Rhodes its emphasis is on the white invaders and its chief concern is white individuals their motives actions and influence on events the british south africa company and the irregularity of its financial and political operations are dealt with in detail Keppel Jones also discusses the development in the midst of the indigenous population of an alien white society and state from their crude beginnings to their emergence in a form still recognizable today the reader is led to conclude that by 1902 southern rhodesia was already set on the road that would lead to the upheavals of the second half of the twentieth century the author examines the racial consciousness and prejudice of the white society and addresses an important question why did the imperial government grant a royal charter to the BSA company the facts show conclusively that the imperial government had little interest in central africa or care for its fate except when foreign competition appeared Keppel Jones also reveals the important role played by black troops employed by the company in suppressing the rebellions of 1896 7 for opposite reasons neither blacks nor whites have been willing to recognize this on the other hand the habit of the men on the spot of making and carrying out decisions without regard to their superiors in London is a commonplace of imperial history one of the main themes of the book is the tension between the unofficial imperialists straining at the leash and the colonial office struggling to hold them back Rhodes and Rhodesia is based on extensive use of public records mainly in the Public Record Office London and the National Archives of Zimbabwe of collections of private papers and of contemporary published works Arthur Keppel Jones is professor emeritus of history at Queen's University excerpt from With the Mounted Infantry and the Mashonaland Field Force 1896 on arriving home from south africa in March last I had no intention whatever of writing a book and it was not till May when writing a brief account of the operations in Mashonaland in 1896 for the Intelligence Department of the War Office that it struck me that there were many points of general interest which had no place in an official account this idea assumed definite form when Colonel R. S. Baden Powell's book The Campaign in Matabeleland 1896 and Lieut Colonel Plumer's An Irregular Corps in Matabeleland appeared and the thought why not Mashonaland too cropped up about the publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books find more at forgottenbooks.com this book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy in rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition we do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works excerpt from The Matabele Rebellion 1896 with the Belingwe Field Force my purpose in writing this book is to discharge a duty I owe to the officers non-commissioned officers and men of the Belingwe Field Force lately under my command by placing on record their share in the quelling of the Matabeleland rebellion of 1896 firstly to the men of Belingwe who gallantly stuck together held their position and the district in practical subjection
